

Link zu bemerkenswerten medizinischen Berichten über >Fluglärm und Herzleiden<

Im British Medical Journal (BMJ)

Press releases: Monday 7 October to Friday 11 October 2013

We now load press releases so they appear alongside the article to which they refer. The links below will take you to the article. When the article appears, click on the "press release" link to the right. Please remember to credit the BMJ as the source when publicising an article and to tell your readers that they can read its full text on the journal's website (<http://www.bmj.com>).

Read article:

Researchers find link between aircraft noise and heart disease

<http://www.bmj.com/cgi/doi/10.1136/bmj.f5432>

<http://www.bmj.com/cgi/doi/10.1136/bmj.f5561>

<http://www.bmj.com/cgi/doi/10.1136/bmj.f5752>

Fear of missing bowel cancer may be exposing patients to unnecessary risks, say experts

<http://www.bmj.com/cgi/doi/10.1136/bmj.f5843>

For more information please contact: Emma Dickinson

Tel: +44 (0)20 7383 6529

Email: edickinson@bmjgroup.com

Press Office telephone: 020 7383 6254 (Weekdays: 0900hrs - 1800hrs)

British Medical Association

BMA House, Tavistock Square, London WC1H 9JR

Keep up with the latest developments at bmj.com

As well as instant publication of all articles and an extensive online archive dating back to 1840, bmj.com content is organised into these easy access channels which make it quick and simple to find what you need: Research, Education, News, Comment and Multimedia. Also providing you with the latest jobs, podcasts, videos, specialty content and much, much more, bmj.com helps you stay ahead in your profession. Visit the site today

Sponsored by BMJ